GARY'S STORY

Almost 3 decades ago, Gary Loomis founded G•Loomis and quickly attracted the attention and admiration of the world's most discerning anglers. Throughout the evolution of carbon fiber rod making Gary distinguished himself as the Master. Using leading edge technology and engineering, he designed tools that have defined High Performance in rods.

After selling G•Loomis, in 1997, Gary dedicated his efforts to protecting & rehabilitating the fisheries of the Pacific Northwest. His devotion to the fishery helped establish Fish First (www.fishfirst.org), where he serves as President, and the coastal Conservation Association Pacific Northwest (www.ccapnw.org), where he serves as the Chairman for Washington State.

Although Gary is no longer affiliated with G•Loomis, his desire to "build the best rods available" remains. He has agreed to share his unparalleled design skills and understanding of modern technology and materials with Temple Fork Outfitters to develop a new generation of Affordable High Performance rods. Gary is fully committed to increasing participation in fishing and protecting our natural resources for future generations. He believes that TFO's Affordable – High Performance approach forms a great base for this growth.

Working with TFO allows me to put high-quality rods in the hands of potential anglers that otherwise would not have access to this king of gear. It is these new anglers that, through their enjoyment of the sport, will help us protect our threatened fishers. ~ Gary Loomis

Take one (or more) of Gary's TFO rods fishing with you...bend it often and make up your own tales.

CARE & MAINTENANCE OF YOUR TEMPLE FORK OUTFITTERS™ ROD

CORRECT ROD ASSEMBLY

1. Align the tip and the butt sections so that the guides are offset by 90 degrees and insert the tip of the butt section into the bottom of the tip section.
2. Firmly twist the tip and butt until the sections are tight and the guides are aligned.
3. Check the tightness of the sections by attempting to pull them straight apart without twisting. If the two sections hold then they are tight enough.

Sometimes rods are broken when dismantling. In all cases, keep sections aligned when pulling apart. Sections should come apart with minimum force, just twist and pull apart. Use a piece of rubber to more securely grip each section if required. In stubborn cases use two people. Each holds one section in one hand and the other section in the other hand. Both people twist and pull at the same time.

CORRECT ROD DISASSEMBLY

1. To disassemble, twist sections apart.

CAUTION

Never use the guides as leverage to assemble or disassemble your rod.
